Creative Design Lab

The NIKA Creative Design Lab (CDL) is a unique architectural design and research studio working to solve real-world problems through innovation. Our creative team understands that architecture is about more than just aesthetics. Rather, our approach puts people first, focusing on the impact of the physical structure on its inhabitants.

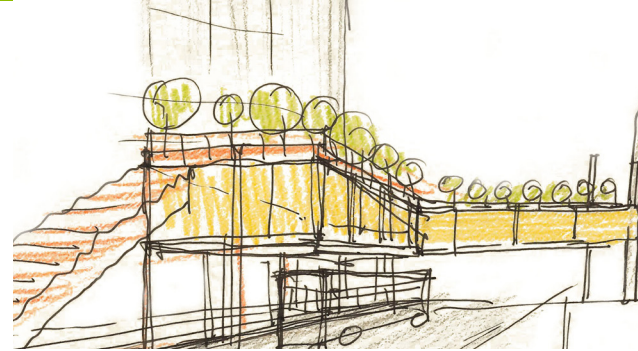

Different from the conventional A+E work studio, the Creative Design Lab is an incubator for fostering out-of-the-box ideas and fresh perspectives that will enrich our world. Our team works to develop a strong understanding of the needs of our evolving society, and then fields a wide variety of ideas and concepts that are nurtured, tested, and refined. This dynamic and flexible process fuels innovation, ultimately leading to design that has the power to transform lives.

CDL's design professionals provide comprehensive creative services that include:

- Architectural Design
- Interior Design
- Urban Design/Master Planning

The Creative Design Lab also has specialized expertise in the design of complex and sensitive facilities, including hospitals and clinics, laboratories, diplomatic missions, military installations, and educational institutions.

The Creative Design Lab is continuously reimagining architecture to push the boundaries of what is possible. Our collaborative approach and dedication to sound decision-making results in a forward-thinking solution for every client.
